Hello Bulldog Nation!!!

As we approach the 2020 – 2021 school year we all have a mixture of feelings and emotions. Please know the faculty and staff are ready for your child to be with us either in person or at home via remote learning. We realize that things will be different but we will work to ensure the following principles are in place to support face-to-face and remote teaching and learning: 1. Instructional Time Expectations; 2. Connection and Communication with Families and Students; 3. Student Engagement in Learning Opportunities Aligned to Standards; 4. Equity, Choice and Flexibility; 5. Collaboration Among Students; 6 Feedback on Student Work; 7. Social and Emotional Learning. These seven principles were designed to maximize the potential for learning to continue on a manageable scale for both students and teachers. Additionally, these principles highlight the importance of flexibility for teachers and students and support for the social and emotional well-being of all in this temporary but new academic setting.

To start the school year our students will attend class through Remote Learning. Below is a schedule that ALL students MUST follow. Unlike last spring, GRADES and ATTENDANCE will be recorded. It is imperative for ALL students to log on each day for their classes. Students will access Canvas for all course work.
